

MINNESOTANS OVERWHELMINGLY SUPPORT FARMERS' ACCESS TO CROP PROTECTION TOOLS

The public has major concerns about the growing impact of litigation on food security and inflation

Modern Ag Alliance's inaugural sentiment survey confirms that Minnesotans strongly support maintaining farmers' access to critical crop protection products like glyphosate. This support extends across party lines, with majorities of Republicans and Democrats siding with farmers on nearly every question asked. Trial lawyers, who are driving American agriculture toward a crisis by attacking farmers' tools, have extremely low levels of trust among Minnesotans. Meanwhile, farmers enjoy high levels of public trust.

KEY SURVEY FINDINGS:

Minnesotans strongly oppose litigation that could limit farmers' access to critical crop protection tools

> 86% of farmers and 70% of all Minnesotans, including 74% of Republicans and 70% of Democrats, oppose litigation that could limit access to crop protection products.
>
> 96% of farmers and 80% of all Minnesotans, including 80% of Republicans and 84% of Democrats, support science-based policies for crop protection tools.

Minnesota farmers overwhelmingly depend on crop protection tools to stay competitive

Methodology: This survey was written and administered by Penta Group Intelligence, an independent research firm. The results are based on a representative sample of 500 online and phone interviews of Minnesota-based adults and 50 Minnesotan farmers. The study also surveyed a national representative sample of 1,005 US adults and 550 additional farmers from 11 states. The study was conducted January 29 through February 18, 2025. The margin of error for the Minnesota adult population is +/-4.38.
